Clerk of Assembly Dead at Victoria

John R. Cowell Had Filled the Position at Edmonton Since Province Created

Victoria, B.C.—John R. Cowell, aged 74, passed away at Victoria on Saturday afternoon according to the word received in the city on Saturday from Ptomaine poisoning.

The late Mr. Cowell, who had been clerk of the legislature assembly ever since the province was formed, had been ill for just a year. He was unable to attend his legislative duties the latter part of the 1922 winter session, and went to the coast. He was able to return for the special summer session but later fell ill again and for the past ten days has been sinking rapidly. Mr. Cowell came to Canada from the Isle of Man, and was for a time engaged in newspaper work at Red Deer. He was an authority on parliamentary procedure and wrote the rules of the Alberta legislature now in use. Before coming to Canada he was a member of the House of Keys of the Isle of Man for over 20 years.

Drury Refuses To Abandon His "Broadening Out" Views

MILTON Ont., April 16.—Premier E.C. Drury refuses to tie himself up exclusively to the support of the United Farmers of Ontario, and is going to the province in the coming election campaign and will ask and accept any support given him as a matter of policy and principle.

This was the answer he made in speaking to his own constituents here on Saturday to the demand of the Farmers' Sun that he give a pre-election pledge against any fusion or combination with other parties in order to carry on the government.

He indicated that he still stands strong and steadfast to his broadening out policy. He would not refuse the support of thousands of country, town, and city people simply because they do not or cannot call themselves by the U.F.O. name.

The following appeared in the Lethbridge Herald:

A Statement
Bow Island, Alta., April 16

To the Editor, Herald, Lethbridge, Alta.
Dear Sir:—I notice in the City and District News of today's Herald that W. Chandler was arrested on the street and fined $60.00 or thirty days for having a bottle of export beer in his possession.

This man was not arrested on the street, but was steward of the Bow Island branch G.W.V.A. and was summoned on the said measures by the A.P.P. I should feel it a great favor if this were corrected as I do not consider this man should shoulder the whole blame for the local club.

Hoping you will oblige and publish this in letter form, I remain,

Yours truly,
W. CHANDLER,
Late Steward G. W. V. A.,
(Late C.E.F.) Bow Island, Alta.

The following is the piece complained of:

Had Bottle in Pocket
Arrested on the street with a bottle of export beer in his coat pocket, A. W. Chandler was, at Bardett, fined $60, or 30 days, for being in possession of liquor in other than a private dwelling.

Exertion From Dancing

Cause of Death

NEW YORK, April 14—Muscular inflammation of the heart caused the death here Thursday of Alex Dick, of Montreal, an official of the British Empire Steel Company, and general manager of the Dominion Coal Company, according to a medical examiner.

The sudden collapse which caused death was blamed on the exertion of dancing.

One Thousand Stand Pledged To Remain Away from Theatres

NEW YORK, April 16—Over a thousand New Yorkers stand pledged to remain away from the theatre and similar forms of amusement. The pledge was given in a wave of religious fervor, a capacity congregation at Calvary Baptist Church, at the behest of a Canadian pastor, rose and solemnly agreed to forswear all forms of so-called "worldly amusements." These include the theatre, motion pictures, card playing and dancing. Only two persons kept their seats.

The pledge was the culminating point in the sermon, preached by the Rev. Dr. Shields of Toronto. Dr. Shields flayed the theatre as "hopelessly incurably immoral," adding that no Christian should have any association with it.

LITTLE BOW MIGHT HAVE MORE OIL THAN WATER

Robert Harvie of Turin says: "An Oil Refinery to be instituted in Lethbridge is good news. But we would all wish to see Oil-producing wells in Alberta instead of Montana. If Archie McLean had put down a well near where he dipped his cattle on the Little Bow I think he would have had better luck sooner."

"Is G.L. Avery the tractor man, to show him such on his acreage north of Tabor? This location is well within the Bow Island anticline and the eastern edge of the Monarch Alberta syncline. The popular impression is that oil in the lower cretaceous is underlain by great reservoirs of oil in the Devonian. Montana has only touched the edge; every indication points to us, Alta. have the pool, but we are boring all around it."

It would be interesting to know the area and acreage of the Imperial Oil Company between Calgary and northern Montana and the opinion of Chief Starkey of the London Geological Society holding good that the Wyoming structure extends clear through Montana into Central Alberta, with the possibility of the greatest quantity of Oil being found north of the boundary. Who will be the first to put down a test hole at the confluence of the Little Bow and Old Man rivers? we wonder

Tourists Help Develop Ontario

Cariboo and Caribou

1. A Typical Bungalow Camp at Emerald Lake. 2. This from the Niagara. 3. A Vista of the French River.

MOST of the newer parts of Canada have received their first impetus toward development through the tourists. In many cases it has been the tourists that have first gone in to spy out the land. They have found it good, and, by the trade which they brought in, have encouraged settlers to set up their homes with the result that the district has been well started on its way to becoming an organized and productive community.

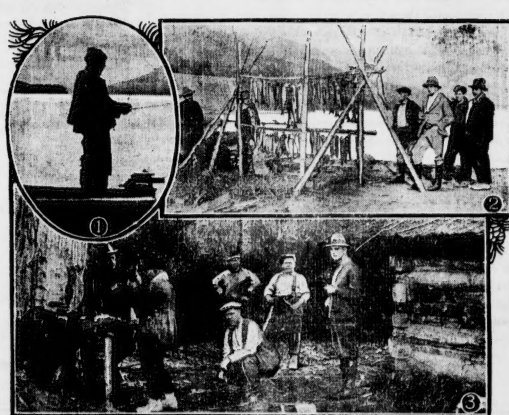

With the idea of inducing traffic, and by so doing, helping to populate and settle those vast, beautiful and productive lands along the right-of-way to Central and Western Ontario, the Canadian Pacific Railway has decided to establish a number of Bungalow Camps, modeled on those which have proved so successful in the Canadian Pacific Rockies during the past three years, and it is expected that in a very short time this part of the country will be as famed for its scenic and sporting possibilities as any other part of the Dominion.

The French River, Niagara Bay and Lake of the Woods districts are, and have been for many years, well and most favourably known to anglers and hunters, particularly those from the United States and the Western provinces; but owing to lack of adequate housing facilities the traffic has been confined chiefly to the more adventurous spirits who are satisfied to live in tents. It is in these districts that the first three of the Bungalow Camps will be located, and it is expected that they will be ready for occupation by July first.

The Camps will consist of a central community house, where meals will be served, and which will also serve as a recreation hall, surrounded by small rustic bungalows suitable for two or four persons. The privacy, simplicity and rusticity of these bungalows appeals to those who like outdoor life, and the moderate cost of construction and maintenance makes it possible to charge much lower rates than an elaborate hotel where operating expenses are necessarily high.

The Hon. Mr. Bowman, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ontario Government, has expressed himself as entirely sympathetic to the extension of the Bungalow Camp idea in Ontario, and any sites that may be selected on Crown Lands will be available at agreed rates with the cordial co-operation of this department, so that the Company will be able to establish camps in some of the choicest spots of this beautiful and inspiring country.

1. Casting on Queneau Lake. 2. A fair morning's catch. 3. Cleaning the gun for the hunt.

WHAT is one of the finest big game and fishing sections of North America and one of the last great stands for big game, lies within easy reach of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Cariboo district of the British Columbia. Here, as nowhere else on the continent, are found in abundance the bear, grizzly, brown and black; the moose and caribou; and the wary mountain goat and sheep. The cougar is often seen and heard and the smaller fur-bearing animals make a trappers' paradise of this vast virgin territory. As will be seen from the picture above, the fishing is superlatively good; it is the fishing country of the west.

"Who is the man with soul so dead, and heart so true to him said, 'I'll seek the Great Outdoors'?" Each year an increasing number of hunters and fishermen are absorbed by the district, but so vast and extensive is it, that there are yet parts of it that have never been visited by the hunter, and streams that have never had a line thrown over them. To reach the Cariboo district one usually leaves the railway at Ashcroft from which place, arrangements having previously been made, one starts out by automobile over the famous Cariboo road to Queneau Lake. Hunters in easy reach of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the Cariboo district of the British Columbia. Here, as nowhere else on the continent, are found in abundance the bear, grizzly, brown and black; the moose and caribou; and the wary mountain goat and sheep. The cougar is often seen and heard and the smaller fur-bearing animals make a trappers' paradise of this vast virgin territory. As will be seen from the picture above, the fishing is superlatively good; it is the fishing country of the west.

The Cariboo hunting and fishing grounds are located in the Great Interior Plateau, lying between the Rockies and the Cascades, east of the Fraser River. Ashcroft, the jumping off place is on the main line of the Canadian Pacific 200 miles east of Vancouver. Equipment for trips can be purchased there or at one of the various hunting centres in the district close by. Guide and outfitting companies cater to every necessity and the "Cariboo" and other lodges adequately care for the wants of the business or professional man who does not care for an extended hunting or fishing trip but desires to get away from something for everything for a while.

Sunflower Silage for Dry Districts

(Experimental Farm Note)

Sunflower Silage has been used for feeding steers, with good results. The animals fed Silage have on an average sold for a Higher Price than those not receiving this feed. This is due to a more uniform finish on the Silage fed animals. It has been found that Sunflowers can be grown in the Drier Years so that a Dependable Supply of Feed can be secured. This is important in the Drier Districts. It is a Feed that can be Cheaply produced, and where a trench or other underground Silo is used it can be Cheaply stored. Silage fed to steers is shown in Pamphlet No. 17 to be worth from $6.16 to $14.91 per ton. Hornless steers are shown to make more rapid gains than those dehorned just before going in the feed lot. Removal of horns is considered necessary in order to ensure the safety of the animals in the feed lot and to secure the margin paid by dealers for dehorned animals. Dehorning the calves by use of caustic potash is recommended.

While a well planned, well equipped stable is useful, the experiments at Scott in housing steers have shown animals fed inside a Straw Shed to make just as good gains as those fed in the more expensive buildings, and much Greater Gains than those more exposed to weather conditions outside.

Pamphlet No. 17, Second Series, on Finishing Steers for Market and Circular No. 107, on Growing Feeds for Winter Feeding Beef Cattle, may be secured free on Application to the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, or to the Dominion Experimental Station, Scott, Sask.

W. J. Tinline—Superintendent
Experimental Farm—Scott, Sask.

The Value of Spring Cultivation

It has been found by experience that the Cultivation of the surface soil in the spring is a very desirable practice. Not only does it destroy many of the hardier weeds and grasses which begin growth early, but it gives the air freer access into the soil, warming it up much more rapidly than if it were left compact, and thus favoring early growth of the plant, whether it be a fruit tree, bush fruit or herbaceous perennial.

By cultivating the soil early in the spring, also, moisture will be conserved, and later in the season the moisture saved in this way may be a great difference in the value of the crop. Moreover, the loosening of the soil early in the spring makes it possible for rain to sink rapidly into the ground and so prevent much evaporation of which might take place. By cultivating very early and then cultivating again after spring rains conditions should be favourable for growth. Sometimes just at blooming time, or as the fruit is setting, there is a dry period. If there is a good supply of moisture in the soil and the surface is loosened by cultivation the chances of a good set of fruit will be much greater than if the conditions were just the reverse.

Because of the great transpiration of moisture from a growing cover crop in an orchard in spring, it is of importance, where the soil is liable to get too dry, to plough under the cover crop early in the spring rather than to wait until there is a large crop of green material to plough under, as by that time much of the precious moisture supply will have gone into the air. Plan then to begin cultivation as soon as it is possible to get on the land.

Ill with Pneumonia after the Flu

Betty Joan, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fraser, is very ill with pneumonia, following an attack of influenza, at the time of writing she is reported a little better. Dr. McPhail and Nurse Henderson are caring for her.

Influenza Is Bad

There are a great many cases of influenza, but we are thankful to say up-to-date that there are no fatalities. Owing to sickness last Sunday, there were only two of the church present at church. All farmers who are not suffering from illness are busy on the land, the village is very quiet.

Laugh and Grow Fat

Pat Knew the Answer

An Irishman was newly employed at a lumber office. The proprietors of the company were young men and decided to have some fun with the new Irish hand. Pat was duly left in charge of the office, with instructions to take all orders which might come in during their absence. Going to a nearby drug store they proceeded to call up the lumber company's office and the following conversation ensued:

"Hello! Is that the East Side Lumber Company?"

"Yes, Sir. And what would you like to have?"

"Take an order, will you?"

"Sure. That's what I'm here for."

"Please send up a thousand knots here."

"What's that?"

"One thousand knots."

"Well now, sir, isn't that a bloody shame. I'm sorry, but we are just out of them."

"How's that?"

"Just sold them all to a new brew."

"To the brewery? What do they want with them?"

"By golly, an' they use them for bungs."

But She Did

Mistress: "Goodness, Bridget, where is our telephone?"

Bridget: "Mrs. sent over, mum, ask for the use of it, and I sent it over, but I had the devil's own time getting it off the wall, mum."

Some Motto

A certain town had bought a new Reo engine, and the superintendent, after gathering all his men together, suggested that an appropriate motto should be placed over the station.

The thing was decided at some length and several suggestions were made. Finally one man arose and said:

I move the following motto: "May this fire fire engine be like all the old mules in our village—always ready but never called for."

Explained

Old Party: "I am 80, young man, and I don't recollect ever having told a lie."

Young man: "Well you can't expect your memory to be reliable at that age."

Fine Instinct

"It seems to me," remarked the customer, as he watched the attendant trim the slice of ham she had bought,

"you are wasting a good deal of that meat."

"Not at all, m'um," he said gently, "I weighed it first."

Irish Pride

Mrs. Lafferty: "Tin sticksides th' doctor have to take in me 'ould man after this fight wi' them policemen last night."

Mrs. O'Hara: "Tin, was it, only tin? Sure, when th' doctor seen me poor nuchan carried in this mornin', he sez, sez he: 'In there he no was here wid such a thing as a sewin' machine?'"

And Mrs. O'Hara was the proudest woman that day in the whole country.

Street Car Speeds To Safety Across Collapsing Bridge

LONDON, Ont., Eighty-five passengers on a street car narrowly escaped death or serious injury Wednesday when a car crossed the Ridout street bridge just as it was collapsing.

Only the high speed at which the car was traveling averted what might have been a disaster. A portion of the bridge gave way under the rear end of the car, but the car was far enough ahead to escape being hurled into the Thames river beneath. The passengers were unaware of their danger until it was past.

Making Canada Europe's best and quickest road to the Orient means much to this country and the Canadian Pacific Railway, in arranging its route from England or France to Japan as to reduce the journey by four days, has made the route more than ever a serious competitor of the travel via the Blue Canal. About 10,000 miles in 21 days is better than even John Yerkes thought of.

A silver tag attached to the dorsal fin of a salmon before its release after the eggs have been removed at the Dominion Government hatcheries is one of the methods resorted to by the Fisheries Department for tracing the life history of the fish. A reward of $1 is paid by the Department for the return of silver tags that are being attached to Atlantic salmon, together with scales from the side of the fish, and particulars regarding their length, weight and place of capture.

A number of western interests have combined and chartered the Canadian Pacific steamship Preston, and the vessel will sail from Montreal on August 1st for Port Churchill, for the purpose of providing the satisfaction of the interested parties whether or not conditions of navigation to and from Hudson's Bay can be made a commercial success. There is a good rush on to Ross, township, in northern Quebec, to Labrador and now to the St. Lawrence, in fact, the whole northern district has immense areas of rock, bearing more or less gold, and the question is whether the quantity is large enough to make a real mine. Gold mining will be one of Canada's greatest industries twenty-five years from now—"Mail & Empire."

Still another case of children travelling alone, Elmer Lajoie, five years old, and Roland Callwell, seven years old, both living on St. Denis street, Montreal, were missed by their parents who did not hear of them after their disappearance until notified by Canadian Pacific Railway officials that the children were in Quebec city, to which place they had begged a ride.
